<question> Read the text about Mass media. Are these statements true or false?

The mass media play an important part in our lives. Newspapers, radio and especially TV inform us of what is going on in this world and give us wonderful possibilities for education, entertainment, and communication. They also influence the way we see the world. They can change our views. Of course, not all newspapers, TV programmes, news presenters, radio commentators, or entertainers report events objectively all the time.

The goal of mass media is only to entertain us.

Mass media doesn't influence our point of view.

It gives us possibilities for education and communication.

There are many serious journalists and TV reporters who try to be as fair and professional as possible. They try to provide us with reliable information. Some people say that journalists are given too much freedom. They often intrude on people's lives. They follow celebrities and print sensational stories about them which can be untrue or half-true. You have probably heard of the "papparazi"; they are independent photographers who take pictures of athletes, entertainers, politicians, and other celebrities, typically while going about their life routines.

_____ who follow famous people and type stories.

<question> Read the text and answer these statements true or false.

It is true that the world today is full of dramatic events, and most news seems to be bad news, but people aren't interested in ordinary events anymore. That is why there are so many TV programmes and articles about natural disasters, plane crashes, wars, murders and robberies. Good news doesn't usually make headlines. Bad news does.

Nowadays people are indifferent to ordinary events.

Bad news doesn't usually make headlines.

There are a lot of TV programmes about natural disasters.

<question> Read the text and answer the question below.

One main source of news for millions of people is television. People like TV news because they can see everything with their own eyes, and that's a big advantage. Seeing, as we know, is believing. Still, others prefer the radio. It is good to listen to the radio while in the car, or in the open air, or while you are doing something around the house. Newspapers don't react to events as quickly as TV does, but they usually provide us with extra details, comments and background information. The internet has recently become another important source of information. Its main advantage is that news appears on the screen as soon as things take place in real life and you don't have to wait for news time on TV.

What makes the internet, as a source of information, better than TV?

<question> Read the text. Find in the text words that mean the same as affect, happen.

The mass media play an important part in our lives. Newspapers, radio and especially TV inform us of what is going on in this world and give us wonderful possibilities for education, entertainment, and communication. They also influence the way we see the world. They can change our views. Of course, not all newspapers, TV programmes, news presenters, radio commentators, or entertainers report events objectively all the time.

<question> Read the text about New Zealand. Answer the question below.

I've been in New Zealand for six months, and, as far as I'm concerned, it's the adventure capital of the world! Hiking, skydiving, caving, ... the list goes on. And it doesn't have to cost a lot to live here. When I arrived, I stayed in a hostel in Auckland. It was cheap, and I met lots of people. I joined up with a few of them and we started touring the country – buses are the cheapest way to get about. We stayed in affordable campsites in the most amazing places. Right now, I'm back in a hostel in Wellington. I'm taking a city break before I start touring again.

What does the author say about being in New Zealand?

<question> Read the text about how to make money travelling.

After I left university, I set out on a three-month trip to Asia. The idea was to travel and then go home and find a job. That was two years ago, and I'm still here! But how, you may ask, can you make money and travel at the same time? I teach English. I also write a travel blog, and that makes money too. I don't have a lot of money, but I can pay my bills. I have friends that do other things, such as hairdressing. There are lots of different ways to make money while you're travelling.

What does the author say about his experience?

<question> Read the text about Warren Buffet. Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)?

Warren Buffet is the most successful investor of the 20th century. He is one of the richest men in the world. Buffet was born in Omaha, Nebraska in 1930. He first became an investor at the age of eleven. By 1990 he was a billionaire. Buffet says he eats the same things he has always eaten: burgers, fries and Coke. He has already given billions of dollars to charities. He says that he will eventually give away 99% of his money. He once said, 'I want to give my kids not so much that they would feel like doing nothing.'

1. He started earning money when he was a teenager.
2. He was born in 1930.
3. He plans to give a lot of money to his children.

<question> Read the text and choose appropriate topic for it.

In Britain, some children and teenagers have a bank account. There is no legal age limit at which you can open a bank account but a bank manager can decide whether to allow a child or young person to open an account. Parents can put pocket money directly into their child's bank account. Some banks have a prepaid bank card designed for young people. Parents can add pocket money to the card then children can use it to pay for things, without carrying money.

<question> Read the text and choose the appropriate topic for it.

Most teenagers in Britain receive pocket money from their parents. A report by the Bank of Scotland interviewed over 1,000 young people in Britain and found that 77 per cent get pocket money. They might have to do chores to get their pocket money, helping at home with tasks like cleaning, cooking, washing up, taking out the rubbish and ironing.

<question> Read the text and for statements 1 to 3 say if the sentences are true or false.

My name is Mike, and I was born in a very poor neighborhood in Los Angeles. When I was little, my mother took care of my brother and me because my father left before I came to this world, and he wasn't too interested in being a part of our lives. She couldn't finish school because she got pregnant with me when she was just a teenager. "I couldn't finish school, and that's why I must work so hard now, and I earn so little money," she often said. My mother had to work two jobs that didn't pay much. She had to work very hard so that we could have food, clothes, and a place to live. She was great; we loved her and appreciated her efforts.

1. Mike didn't know his father.
2. His mother didn't have enough money to buy food.
3. She didn't finish school because she had Mike.

<question> Read the text and for statements 1 to 3 say if the sentences are true or false.

Children were very violent in my neighborhood; you needed to be violent if you wanted to survive. There was a lot of crime, vandalism, and drugs. It wasn't easy to be a good student for any child who lived in our neighborhood. The only positive thing about living in that place is that you needed to be very clever to survive, and that helped me later in life. I went to university because I was a very good basketball player, and basketball paid for my university degree. On the day of my graduation, my mother was in tears. And she was in tears again the day I showed her our new apartment, away from the neighborhood. Do you know how difficult it is to get out of a poor neighborhood? It's very hard, but I did it, and it was thanks to my mum. Now she doesn't have to work two jobs anymore, and I take care of her.

1. Mike took drugs.
2. He got good grades at school.
3. He thinks living in his neighbourhood was very positive.
